C-46 Wreckage Discovered On Mountainside; 40 Dead

Hill Air Force Base, Utah. (AP)—The Air Force said yesterday that the wreckage of a C46 "troop special" missing since Wednesday had been found on a mountainside about 40 miles northeast of Logan, Utah. There were no survivors among the 40 passengers.

Two daring para-medical rescue troopers parachuted into the wild and rugged Wasatch Mountains northeast of Logan at 4 p. m.

Senators Ask Ousting Of Red Teachers

Washington (AP)—The Senate internal security subcommittee said yesterday there are hundreds of American school teachers who are Communists and who must be rooted out to protect future generations.

In a 13-page report, the subcommittee recommended further investigation of Red influences in the nation's schools and colleges.

"Despite the unquestioned loyalty and self-sacrificing devotion to duty of the preponderant bulk of America's teachers," the senators said, "there are yet many hundreds of teachers who are Communists."

These subversive elements in the educational system, the report went on, spread their influence widely in the community. Then it added:

"A Communist is not a fit person to be placed or retained in a position to influence the minds of the youth of America."

The Senate group proposed that state legislatures probe the situation, as was done in New York in 1940-42, and urged that boards of education take steps to remove teachers whose loyalty is proved to be questionable.

Stores May Sell Milk Cent Cheaper

Harrisburg (AP)—A Pittsburgh area milk price schedule permitting stores to sell milk for one cent less than home delivery was upheld yesterday by the Dauphin County Court.

President Judge Paul G. Smith dismissed an appeal by Pittsburgh milk truck drivers and their union representatives. They claimed the order of the State Milk Control Commission would reduce their commissions on store deliveries.

The plan has been in effect since August 25, 1950. Judge Smith said he agreed with the commission's findings, on which it based the differential rate, that the cash-carry sales are from one to two cents cheaper for the distributor and that the savings could be passed on to the consumer.

Eisenhower Lunches With New Cabinet

New York. (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower interrupted a busy day of policy talks yesterday for an historic shape-up luncheon with his new Cabinet and his key advisers.

They ate oysters, on the half shell, chicken gumbo, minute steak and raspberry sherbet and then settled down with coffee to mull over foreign and domestic problems awaiting them Jan. 20, when the general takes office.

Richard Nixon, vice president-elect, came out during a recess to report everything going fine, with a productive discussion of "one problem after another."

As the 4½-hour conference broke up for the day, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, told newsmen:

"There was a discussion of the future duties of the administration, foreign and domestic. The conferences will continue tomorrow."

Earlier Eisenhower again talked patronage with Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and discussed government reorganization with Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.).

The President-elect also found time to choose Dr. James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University since 1933, as new United States high commissioner for Germany. He succeeds Walter J. Donnelly, who resigned Dec. 31.

U. N., U. S. Cooperate

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and the United Nations began a co-operative effort yesterday to rid the world of organized crime.

Warden Percy Lainson said Robert Nightengale, 32-year-old convicted forger, admitted tossing flaming balls of oil-soaked cotton at four separate points in the prison.

The resulting fire gutted the prison auditorium and caused minor damage to the prison shops and chapel. None of the 1,200 inmates was hurt.

Approval Sought

Washington (AP)—Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) announced yesterday the Senate Armed Services Committee will move Thursday to clear the way for inauguration day approval of the five men President-elect Eisenhower has named to head the Defense Department.

Predicts Solution

Washington (AP)—Adm. Ernest J. King, America's World War II navel chief, predicted yesterday that President-elect Eisenhower will "come up with a workable solution" to end the stalemate in Korea.

New Power Blackout Forces Many Workers Into Idleness

Soviet Russian Planes Violate Jap Air Lanes

Tokyo. (AP)—Japan today protested violations of its territorial air by planes of a foreign power—presumably Soviet Russia—and warned that Japan and the U. S. would take steps to repel intruding aircraft.

The Japanese government in a statement said:

"Violations of our territorial air over Hokkaido by foreign military planes have of late become increasingly frequent."

"Such trespasses are not only forbidden under international law but they constitute also a grave menace to the security of Japan."

Hokkaido is the northernmost main island, separated by only a few miles from the Russian-occupied Kuriles and Sakhalin.

The Japanese government statement added:

"The government has therefore decided to take the necessary measures with the co-operation of the United States security forces stationed in Japan to prevent such violations of Japanese aerial domains in the future."

"The Japanese government takes this opportunity to caution the foreign power concerned against the repetition of such violations and to declare that hereafter, for any consequences of the measures to be taken in order to repel intruding aircraft, the entire responsibility will rest with the country to which the aircraft belongs."

Last Fall, a U. S. B29 Superfort disappeared while on a routine weather flight off Hokkaido. Another plane was spotted on radar approaching the U. S. plane from the direction of the Kuriles.

The U. S. government protested to Russia. Russia rejected the protest and insisted the B29 fired on its plane.

The U. S. said the B29 was unarmed.

Japan's protest today did not mention Russia by name. The statement referred only to a foreign power, but there seemed to be little doubt that the power was Russia.

Japan has no air force now. It is about to begin the formation of one.

But U. S. jets and other planes regularly patrol Japanese territory and the coast lines.

Seven Firemen Seriously Burned

Cincinnati (AP)—"Injured firemen were scattered about the street, some beating out the fire in their comrades' clothing with their bare hands, others still manning hose lines despite their burns."

That was the scene described by Fire Marshal Edward Corsmeier when he arrived shortly after a 90-gallon fuel tank exploded with tremendous force yesterday, spraying nine firefighters and two workers with blazing gasoline. Seven of the firemen were reported in serious condition at General Hospital.

Corsmeier, who estimated damage at $10,000 or $12,000, said the tank let go just after the firemen began extinguishing a blazing air-compressor truck on Eastern Ave.

Penitentiary Fire Laid To Inmate

Ft. Madison, Ia. (AP)—An inmate, said as he manned a fire hose was accused last night of setting fires which did an estimated $75,000 damage to the Iowa State Penitentiary here yesterday.

Warden Percy Lainson said Robert Nightengale, 32-year-old convicted forger, admitted tossing flaming balls of oil-soaked cotton at four separate points in the prison.

Ohio Sheriff Murdered By Hitch-Hikers

West Union, O. (AP)—Two gun-toting hitch-hikers shot and killed Adams County Sheriff Ben K. Perry late yesterday, a week after he took office.

Perry, a former national president of the Fraternal Order of Police, was questioning them north of nearby Bentonville.

The slayers fled in Perry's automobile and were believed to have staged a holdup of a filling station near West Union a short time later.

State highway patrolmen joined officers from surrounding counties in setting up road blockades on all roads leading out of Adams County.

Adams County Prosecutor Vernon Young said an Army discharge paper which Sheriff Perry had taken from one of them carried the name of Charles T. Rigdon, 31, of Manchester.

There was no immediate clue as to the identity of the other man.

24 Become Cardinals

Vatican City (AP)—Twenty-four new princes were added to the College of Cardinals yesterday in the richly colorful traditions of the Roman Catholic Church.

The majesty of the ritual was tempered by sorrow, with Pope Pius XII expressing his grief that two of the new cardinals were unable to leave Communist-dominated lands to receive their honors in person. They are Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac of Yugoslavia and Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland.

The 24 new cardinals are from 13 nations and include 66-year-old James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, a native New Yorker, who left a job in Wall Street to study for the priesthood.

The College of Cardinals, the senate of the church, represents 27 countries and is at its full strength of 70 for the first time in two centuries.

Senoritas Spend Night On Carrier

Barcelona, Spain (AP)—Lovely senoritas—daughters of Barcelona's best families—went home last night after an unscheduled all-night stay aboard the U. S. carrier Midway.

The girls boarded the Midway, which is anchored outside the harbor, from small launches Sunday night for a dance scheduled to end before midnight. A sudden storm made return impossible.

Rear Adm. S. H. Ingersoll, the Midway's senior officer, said that the guests were entertained with dancing and movies until the sea calmed.

West Enders Develop Own Disaster Plan

A county-wide disaster plan may be born out of the weekend chaos, thanks to a handful of Brodheadsville residents.

Amzi F. Altomose, Brodheadsville contractor, a county commissioner and county disaster coordinator as well—is studying the possibilities involved.

The idea began Friday when Altomose and two or three friends helped each other clear up storm debris.

"Why not," Altomose asked, "get a couple of volunteers and give the power companies a hand? The work'll have to be done sooner or later, and this might help us get power back faster."

Even Altomose didn't expect the results he got. The word circulated through the village on the "grapevine." Saturday morning some 15 men showed up to go to work—without pay and without being asked—just "to get the job done."

The crew had three pick-up trucks, ladders, axes, saws, ropes, all the equipment necessary for the work they planned. All of it was donated.

Before anything was started, Altomose drove to Stroudsburg, talked to Carleton G. Long of PP&L, outlined what he had in mind.

"Sure, it would help," Long said. Altomose returned to his volunteers and they went to work. The group included such varied professions as farmers, mechanics, businessmen, executives, shopkeepers.

For an area which averaged out to a rough five-mile radius around Brodheadsville, the volunteers moved along the roads with their equipment.

Where trees blocked the road to the expected power company repair trucks, the crews saved up the trees and got the road open again. Every break in the line itself was noted and later reported to a PP&L repair crew. This was a time-saver which enabled the PP&L men to repair the lines faster and get service back in less time, Long said later.

News of the crew's activity spread through Brodheadsville. The village was decidedly in favor of the program of volunteer activity during emergencies.

The men put in a full day Saturday, and worked Sunday from sun-up to sundown.

Yesterday, Altomose was planning to see if a method could be worked out on a similar community basis, but on a county-wide level. In event of disaster, such an organization by lending its aid might bring the county back to normalcy in a much shorter time by speeding operations and clearing the way for technical work which the volunteers themselves could not do.

Civil Defense workers might be willing to assume such community responsibilities he thought; but whoever does it, a disaster plan can be set up and made workable, if Altomose is right.

The efforts of the volunteers at Brodheadsville indicate he is right.

Sescilla Enters Innocent Plea

Wilkes-Barre (AP)—Charged with attempted extortion of $5,000 from a Wilkes-Barre couple, Albert F. Sescilla, 21, pleaded innocent before a U. S. Commissioner yesterday and was returned to Luzerne County prison in default of $10,000 bail.

FBI agents, state and local police arrested Sescilla Saturday night after Mrs. Joseph A. Goldman reported to authorities she had received a threatening letter demanding money. Goldman owns a scrap iron and steel yard here.

M-E Line Burns Out When Winds Fell More Trees

Power companies had more trouble yesterday. Last night 850 or 900 were still without service in the county.

The damage toll mounted sharply because of storm damage when a Metropolitan Edison line into the Stroudsburgs kicked out shortly before noon. Trees had fallen on the line again.

The company couldn't tell for sure when the damage would be repaired. As a result, the majority of the major industries sent their men home about 1:30 p.m.

The production loss was tremendous in terms of dollars on a county-wide basis, though it could not be even roughly estimated last night. It meant a three-to-11 hour lay-off for industries employing hundreds of men.

Oil Concerns Turn Down HST Offer

Washington (AP)—President Truman met a stormy refusal yesterday when he offered to drop the government's criminal case against five giant American oil companies and substitute a civil anti-trust suit against them.

Attorneys for the companies angrily denounced the offer as insulting.

Arthur H. Dean, counsel for Standard Oil of New Jersey, called it "outrageous blackmail." Lawyers for other companies agreed.

As the next step in the fast-moving drama, the Justice Department promptly announced that unless the companies unanimously accept the terms, the government will go ahead with the criminal action based on allegations that the companies have set up a world-wide price-fixing monopoly. The companies have repeatedly denied engaging in any such conspiracy.

Truman had conditioned his offer by stipulating that in return for calling off a federal grand jury investigation of criminal anti-monopoly charges, the oil companies would have to agree to produce their records as a basis for a civil suit.

Highly volatile international interests, coupled with fears that the American firms might lose their multimillion dollar foreign oil rights to Soviet Russia, were reported to have motivated the President's proposal.

The men put in a full day Saturday, and worked Sunday from sun-up to sundown.

Yesterday, Altomose was planning to see if a method could be worked out on a similar community basis, but on a county-wide level. At Art Metal's two plants, some 450 workers were dismissed. Another 180 left International Boiler Works, and the night shift was instructed not to report either. This meant a loss of about 2,000-man-hours production for the one firm. Hughes Printing Co. closed many departments for the afternoon, with a loss described only as "big". Patterson-Kelley turned its workers loose too. Line Material let off all but about 10 per cent of employees for the afternoon shift. The three-hour loss in production might range up to $40,000, it was estimated.

An equally heavy loss was suffered by hourly-wage workers who will draw thinner paychecks because of the power blackout during the afternoon.

It was just one more sneak-punch thrown by the weekend storm. However, PP&L said its main power source from the Cherry Hill Station near Nazareth was completed by 5 p.m. yesterday, and that company felt industry was fairly safe.

PP&L still had about 700 subscribers out of current, because of more trees going down under wind—including some 150 in the Stroudsburgs. M-E reported one "tap" out at Shawnee, another at Sciota, and two at Saylorsburg. This represented about 150 or 200 subscribers.

M-E described the period from about 11:45 to 2:15 p.m. yesterday—when its entire distribution system went out—as the result of trees falling on the wires and slapping them together. The cables burned down.

The prediction: "Everything should be O. K. by tonight."

Bell Telephone Co. reported 236 subscribers without telephone service last night: 256 in Stroudsburg, 24 in Mount Pocono, 12 in Delaware Water Gap, four in Cresco. They're restored service to 2,398 phones since Friday morning. Yesterday's clear weather aided restoration. All phones were expected to be in service by tonight.

Blue Mountain Telephone Co. took a worse shelling than the Bell firm. Last night 300 to 350 customers on the Saylorsburg exchange were without phone service, and it was estimated that a "couple of weeks at least" would be required to restore it.

Blue Mountain made a "horseback guess" of a $50,000 to $75,000 loss. Principal costs will be for labor of 30 men—10 more than the regular crews. In addition the company must replace 115 poles which were broken off on the main lines in the Saylorsburg-Sciota-Brodheadsville-Bossardville section. Of the 50 party lines out of order, 40 lie between Saylorsburg and Stroudsburg, and Saylorsburg and Brodheadsville.

Work at present is concentrated on getting lines up off the highways and replacing uprooted or broken-off poles. Poles and other materials ordered on an emergency basis are due today, the company said. The storm was described as the most damaging in the company's history in this area, dating from 1929.

Customers of the Blakeslee and Fern Ridge Telephone Co., Pocono Lake, were reported in good shape last night. There were no phones out of operation.

Franklin Smith, manager, said no poles had gone down, and only three lines went down in his system. This represented a total of about 37 customers.

All of the damage had been repaired last night. Financial setbacks to the company because of damage were comparatively minor.

Blown To Bits

Weston, W. Va. (AP)—Don McCray turned himself into a human bomb yesterday, setting off several sticks of dynamite strapped to his waist. He was blown to bits and his divorced wife and her lawyer were critically injured.

Church Board Sparks Drive For Blood

Taking the initiative to obtain 200 volunteers to contribute a pint of blood each in Monroe County's Jan. 20 blood donor drive, First Presbyterian Church, of Stroudsburg, has enrolled the efforts of its Board of Deacons and all members of the congregation.

With the mobile unit of the American Red Cross slated to appear at the Presbyterian Church, Holt Wyckoff has been named chairman of the deacons who are spearheading the drive.

Sunday morning after the service the 12 members of the board stationed themselves at the exits of the church and solicited the cooperation of attending members. Before Jan. 20 each member will be reached personally and asked to contribute a pint of blood to the cause. Deacons all wore red carnations at the service so members could establish their identity.

Other Monroe County churches are cooperating in the plans launched by the Ministerial Association headed by Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. It is anticipated that each church will conduct a campaign of its own to raise 300 pints of blood to meet the quota this month.

The Presbyterian Church plan covers all members from 18 to 59. Inside the church are two attractive posters asking the congregation's cooperation. Arrangements for the posters were made by Walter Wyckoff and the designing was completed by Lester (Baron) Reinhart, of Wyckoff's Store.

Members of the Board of Deacons cooperating in the plan are Walter and Edward Stevens, Blake Jagerty, William Wells, Henry Kresge, Russell Balmer, Allen Zakorik, Hayden Jones, Holt Wyckoff, Martin Tow, Harold Lee and Thomas MacMillan.

Two Concerts Slated Tonight At Water Gap

Delaware Water Gap.—Two concerts by Fred Waring Enterprises talent will be given tonight for the benefit of organ funds at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in this borough.

The first concert will be given at 7 p.m. at the Presbyterian church with the second concert scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Methodist church.

Featured on the concert program will be Richard K. Lindroth, Leonard Kranendonk, Frances Wyatt, Bob Sands and a string quartet comprised of John Richardson, Pete Buonconsiglio, Henry Brynan and Robert Gary.

Lindroth, production manager for Shawnee Press, is a widely-known organist whose accomplishments on the instrument have led to key assignments in civilian life and in the Army in which he served during World War Two.

Mr. Kranendonk is one of the stars of the regular Fred Waring television program. He is a baritone whose meteoric career as a singer led him to great popularity with musicians and audiences alike.

Kranendonk is well-known in this community for his constant participation in local projects for the betterment of the area.

Sands is featured tenor soloist for the concert tonight and is a valuable member of the Waring Glee Club. Mrs. Wyatt is also a member of the Pennsylvanians.

Tonight's two concerts are being held in an effort to help the local churches finance their new electric organs.

The decision to hold two separate concerts—one in each of the two churches—was made in order to accommodate an expected heavy turnout of music lovers from all over Monroe County.

Stroudsburg Council Begins Work On 1953 Budget, Awaits Report From Commissioners

Stroudsburg Council began work last night on the 1953 budget covering both the borough operations and conduct of the sanitary sewer department.

Work on the sewer account budget was virtually completed. However, the borough budget remains incomplete because of lack of a report from the office of the Monroe County Commissioners on the borough's request for an appropriation from gasoline tax funds returned to the county each from the Department of Revenue.

Pending action by the commissioners on the borough's request, council is unable to set up its capital outlay for required street work during 1953.

It was indicated last night that the budget will be delayed until such time as this information is forthcoming.

Stevenson Makes Exit As Governor

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential nominee, yesterday made his exit as Illinois governor.

Stevenson took part in the inauguration of his successor, Republican Gov. William G. Stratton, and left immediately for the railroad station to board a train for Chicago.

At the station he found several hundred persons on hand to wish him goodbye, among them state cabinet members and other officials of his administration.

Some wept as he said his farewell.

If he "fulfilled the confidence" of the people who elected him, Stevenson said, "then I am richly rewarded."

"I have done my best," he added. He thanked the people of Springfield for being kind to him and said: "I hope the time may come when I can come back and say thanks to each and every one of them."

Stevenson plans to take a vacation soon in the West Indies, before starting a world tour about March 1.

The Waring Concert ticket committee met Thursday night, despite the icy walking. Tickets are selling so rapidly that it looks as if some will be disappointed in securing any. Mrs. Mae Kilbourne had as guests this weekend two stay-at-home travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storer, who at one time ran the "Valley View" in Water Gap and have in recent years had "Rolling Hill Lodge" in Paradise Valley, waited here for their plane trip back to Florida. They went South Sept. 19 for the winter; but were called to Maine in December by the death of Mr. Storer's father, Walter Storer. They made that trip by plane and came this far on the return trip in an auto-

Along with many residents of this Eastern Pennsylvania Area, Metropolitan Edison Company is slowly returning to normal after being hit by one of the worst ice and sleet storms in history. The heavy ice levelled approximately 150 electric poles and broke lines in thousands of places.

Especially destructive and annoying were trees which fell under their burden of ice. Not only did they pull down power lines, but in many instances hindered the restoration of service, either because they had to be cut away before lines could be replaced or because they blocked access to roads.

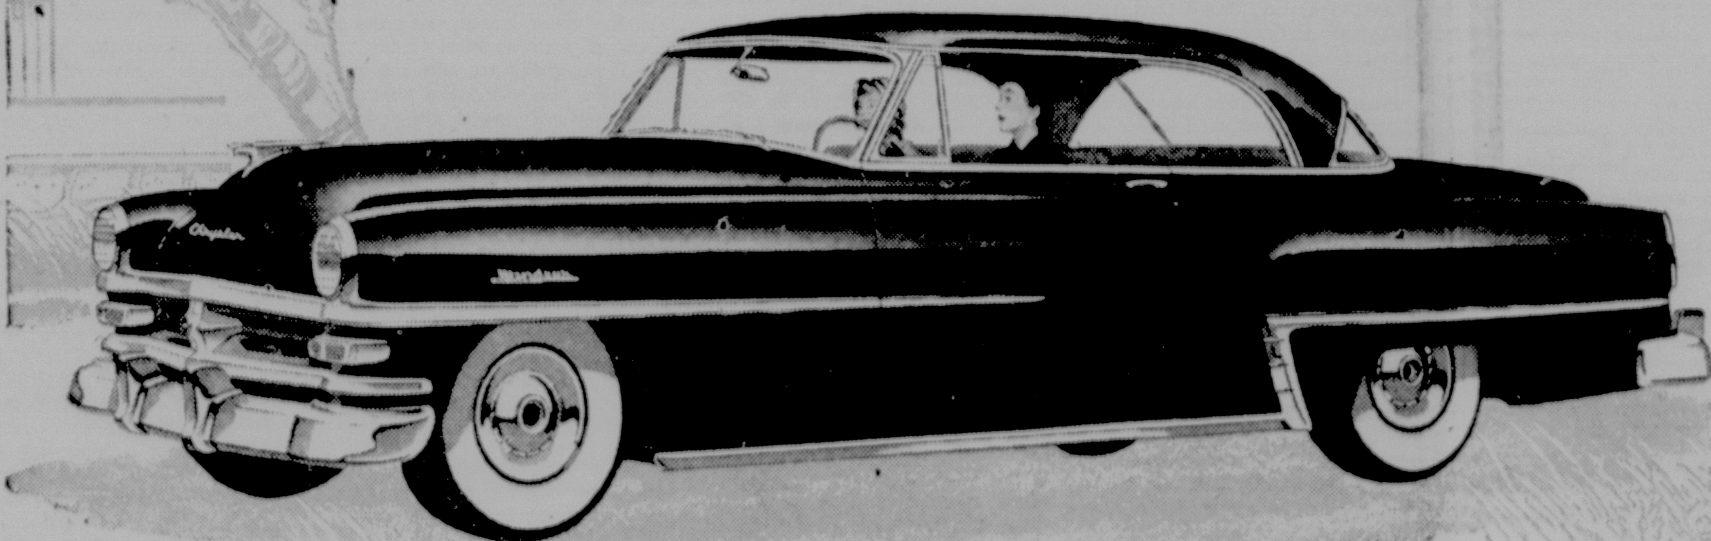

Ever since early Friday morning when the storm first hit, we have been busily engaged in repairing damage. Employees of all departments joined linemen and construction workers in the battle to restore service and these 200 regular employees were augmented by 275 other experienced workmen who were brought in from distant points to expediate repairs. And, despite wet, cold and uncomfortable working conditions, these men have worked long hours in a continuous effort to repair the storm damage. We are proud of their achievement and know they will complete the clean-up job as fast as it is humanly possible to do so.

Transmission lines necessary to supply electric power to all distribution points are back in service. Workmen are now following up with repairs in localized areas. In many cases this requires setting new poles, replacing cross arms and stringing new wires. It is rapidly going forward.

We do not minimize the inconvenience to our customers, but do say that service is being restored as quickly as experienced men can do it. We are grateful for the friendly understanding of our customers which is making it a bit easier to accomplish a difficult and unpleasant job under unusually troublesome conditions.

Working Dimes-Dollars

Last word on the current March of Dimes campaign indicates there's nothing to worry about insofar as enthusiastic, working man- and womanpower. There is a real concern over working dimes and dollars.

Joe Small, general chairman of this year's effort, faces the task of collecting not less than $11,400—the amount raised last year. Actually, Mr. Small and his workers are required to collect even more since the drain of the worst year in polio history in 1952 sent the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis into a multi-million dollar deficit.

The major share of March of Dimes monies remains in your community to meet the emergencies of polio treatment among your neighbors. What goes to National may even come back here, if polio wipes out the local treasury. It has happened on several occasions.

There are no questions asked about finances when polio strikes—regardless of the financial condition involved. March of Dimes monies send the victim immediately to St. Luke's Hospital where final diagnosis is made. Nobody ever asks the patient or his family about money during that time.

There comes a time when the question is asked—"Can you pay anything?" There is no pressure. If the answer is no, there is no quibbling.

Dimes and dollars working in this merciful manner are doing a tremendous job. You can't afford not to put your dimes and dollars to work with the March of Dimes.

Who Causes Accidents?

The mounting toll of death on the highways naturally brings forth a great variety of suggestions for laws to promote safety and curb recklessness. Unfortunately, many of these proposals take a superficial view of the problem and look to remedies in the creation of questionable new bureaucratic methods.

A New York medical society is currently arguing for a program of health examinations of drivers as a means of promoting traffic safety. This proposal may have some merit, but the health factor can easily be over-stressed as a cause of accidents. A spokesman for the medical society points to statistics showing that 17 per cent of fatal accidents have occurred in the 45 to 64 age group, with 5 per cent in the age group above 64. This does not seem, to us, to warrant the assumption that perfect physical condition is requisite to safe driving.

Our own belief is that the chief contributory cause of auto accidents is cockiness, and drivers who are in good physical condition and in the prime of life are more vulnerable to that failing than older and "poorer" drivers. The motorist who is conscious of shortcomings as a driver is likely to take fewer risks and cause less accidents than the motorist who feels entirely confident of his prowess behind the wheel.

Much good may be served by requiring motorists who pass red lights or get into certain types of accidents to take physical tests, but it is doubtful whether the creation of a new bureaucracy to give such tests would be justified in safety results. The heart of the problem, we believe, lies in persuading the great mass of motorists, most of whom are in good health and "good" drivers, that no one can possibly be good enough to forego allowing a substantial margin for error on the highways.

No one is good enough to speed excessively or to ride too close to other cars.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

The simple inaugural asked by the Eisenhower is gone with the windup. Every hour the announced plans for high jinks grows more elaborate, and it may end in a photo finish with the Coney Island Mardi Gras, the Mummers Parade and the Miami Orange Bowl carnivals. It is now announced that over fifty Hollywood stars and Broadway celebrities will participate and that there will be 350 full-blooded Indians, 49 Palomino horses, a dozen Alaskan huskies and a number of elephants. Go easy on those fifty Hollywood notables, boys, or like won't even be in the picture. (We didn't know there were that many movie actors who hadn't come out for Adlai Stevenson.) It could be that Eisenhower will find himself surrounded by the largest collection of trained scene-stealers in the history of inaugurations, or of show business.

Three hundred fifty Indians? Well, Indians are all right, but we hope this doesn't mean the Republicans' first step will be to give the people more "Westerns." Elephants? They help any parade, especially a Republican one, but these pachyderms are going to be hard to handle. Not having been allowed in Washington in twenty years, the Washington Monument, White House, Pentagon and other sights might stampede the herd. So far as the Alaskan sled-dogs are concerned, they seem well chosen for the occasion in view of the low temperatures that will feature relations between Ike and Harry. We would suggest a few other animals as suitable for this inaugural.

A few camels, perhaps, to suggest that certain animals can go eight days without water and that most Republicans can go two decades without either water or food... a herd of bison to symbolize the old pioneer days when buffalos and Republicans were so numerous they blotted out the horizon... a couple of kangaroos just to suggest that the Democrats are in for a series of long jumps across the prairies for the next four years.

We have some new ideas for symbolic floats... "Youth Conquers All" draped with mint leaves and the California state flowers, with Barkley and Nixon aboard... "The Big Mistake," a float with a tableau of the memorable scene when Truman discovered that Ike was NOT A DEMOCRAT... "Walking My Baby Back Home," showing old-line Republicans escorting a baby elephant up the White House steps... a float depicting the election poll takers trying to figure it all out... "What's Cooking?" a float with wax figures representing the new Secretary of Labor on a throne surrounded by nervous employers... It looks like quite a show. Our greatest fear is that in the confusion we will find that Ike has got lost and that the Ringling Brothers have been sworn in.

School kids in New York and Baltimore have been getting their lessons via TV because of strikes... Results were not so good... Failure was largely due to these facts:

- 1.—No stagecoach was set on fire by Indians during the arithmetic lesson.
  - 2.—In every spelling lesson the period passed without a single character crying, "Drop that gun, Butch; I gotcha covehed!"
  - 3.—Every grammar period passed off without a murder, a stick-up, a mugging, a posse or a mystery poisoning.
- It seems to us that if education by TV is to get anywhere, teacher has got to arrive by squad car. New York and other states are proposing a statewide educational video network. Many top educators have come out for it, emphasizing a belief it would be kept free from commercials. It is bound to come, we think, and what a jump from Abe Lincoln, lying on the floor studying books by a fireplace fire, to the kid of today sitting in a chair and getting his "larnin" in front of a TV. One big question presents itself. How is a child going to bring an apple to a video set?

Pictures of a 55-foot cruiser wedged under the elevated road on its way to the Gotham Motorboat Show reminded ye of a harrowing hour when he saw a cruiser, brought by him on the floor of the show, similarly wedged on a snowy night on the way back to the Matthews showroom from Grand Central Palace... Man, our nerves have never been the same...

Threat To Check Tom Clark Stirs Up Big Political Row

Robert S. Allen Reports - - - By Robert S. Allen

Washington, January 13.—That Republican threat to investigate Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark has stirred up an angry political row in the House of Representatives.

Democratic leaders are making a straight-out partisan issue of the matter. They are doing that by some blunt threatening of their own.

They have served notice that the Democrats will retaliate against incoming Secretary of State John Foster Dulles if the GOP doesn't lay off of Clark.

The House committee investigating the Justice Department is on the trail of the Texan. The probes want to grill him about certain highly suspicious things that occurred when he headed the Justice Department. Most of the matters so far probed occurred during that four-year period.

Clark is displaying pronounced reluctance to descending from the Supreme bench to be investigated. He has told Democratic chiefs he will flatly reject the "invitation" the GOP probes have announced they will send him to come before them for questioning. They are uncertain whether they have the power to subpoena him.

Clark's allies have advised him to disregard the committee on anything it does. They are saying they will handle the matter in their own way.

The Democratic leaders are confident they are in a strong position to put the heat on the Republicans.

Counter Threat — Reason for that belief is that Dulles brushed off another House committee that wanted to quiz him.

That incident occurred last month when the committee that investigated educational and other tax free foundations heard testimony that Dulles had recommended Alger Hiss for head of the Carnegie Foundation. One witness who said that was John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate in 1924 and a trustee of the Foundation. The committee immediately invited Dulles to come before it and discuss the matter.

The Secretary of State-to-be sent back word that he was too busy conferring with President-elect Eisenhower to come to Washington.

The probes did nothing about his brush-off — although they could have readily subpoenaed Dulles. He is still a private citizen and full subject to the legal powers of the committee.

The Democrats are now making a big point of that in their truculent warnings to the GOP. The Democrats are threatening to demand a full-dress probe of the Dulles-Hiss relationship, and are backing this tough talk up with a mysterious letter they claim to have gotten hold of. According to them, it was written by Dulles warmly recommending Hiss for the $25,000-a-year Carnegie job.

"Lay off of Tom Clark or else..." is the Democrats' ultimatum, and they are making no bones they are itching for a partisan fight.

They think that would be a big help in solidifying their own strife-torn ranks. The leaders will have no trouble lining up a united party stand behind Clark.

Before the Texan ascended the bench, he was one of the most effective glad-handers in the Capital and is widely popular among House Democrats.

The threat to retaliate against Dulles was decided on a strategy conference of Democratic chiefs. They also agreed that if the Republicans didn't back down on Clark, the Democrats will drag the Hiss charges against Dulles out into the open on the floor of the House and stage a noisy battle over the explosive issue there.

Include Me Out — Senate Democratic Floor Leader Lyndon Johnson is in a quandary.

The tall Texan has run into an extraordinary dilemma.

He is finding it almost impossible to round up enough Democrats to fill his party's quota on the committee headed by Senator Joe McCarthy.

Democratic senators just don't want to serve under the Wisconsinite.

Only one Democrat is left on the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments. He is Senator John J. McClellan (D, Ark.), who was chairman in the last Congress. And even he wants to shift elsewhere despite his seniority on this committee.

Others who have already done that are Senators Clyde Hoxey (D, N. C.), Hubert Humphrey (D, Minn.), and Mike Monroney (D, Okla.).

To fill his party's quota, Johnson will probably have to resort to drafting rookie senators. Virtually certain to be named to the committee are newly-installed Senators Albert Gore, Tenn.; Henry Jackson, Wash.; Mike Mansfield, Mont.

Rookie members of Congress rarely have any choice on committee assignments. Usually they have to take what is dished out to them — until they get some seniority under their belts.

Churchill Pressed For Destroyer Deal With Spectre Of Nazis Taking His Fleet

These Days - - - - - By George Sokolsky

An Historical Reminder

Winston Churchill said that his relations with Roosevelt "gradually became so close that the chief business between our two countries was virtually conducted by these personal interchanges (by some 3700 cables) between him and me."

Churchill in 1939 wanted Roosevelt to believe that if France and England were conquered, Hitler would move immediately against the United States. However, when Great Britain was apparently defenseless and Germany had actually taken France, Hitler stopped at the Channel and dared not cross it.

Before Congress declared war, Roosevelt, under the terrific pressure of Churchill and basing his actions on an old statute of May 12, 1917, had figured a way to supply the British without submitting to the authority of Congress. Acting Attorney General Francis Biddle conveniently ruled that the Secretary of War had the right to sell surplus war supplies to "any corporation or individual upon such terms as may be deemed best." General George Marshall had supplies sent but Hitler's march was swifter than anticipated. On May 28, 1940, Belgium fell and the road was open to France.

Churchill wanted over-age American destroyers. Roosevelt at first refused. In a note to Sumner Welles, dated June 1, 1940, Roosevelt said:

"Any exchange for American destroyers probably unacceptable because of enormous sea area which must be patrolled by us and would require Congressional action which might be very difficult to get. Our old destroyers cannot be sold as obsolete as is proved by fact. All of them are now in commission and in use or are in process of being commissioned for actual use."

This annoyed Churchill no end. He wrote the Prime Minister of Canada, Mackenzie King:

"... not to let Americans view too complacently prospect of a British collapse, out of which they (the Germans) would get the British Fleet and the guardianship of the British Empire."

Churchill's argument was that if Germany took France, the day might come when Great Britain would be forced to surrender or scuttle the British fleet and then the United States would be helpless.

Roosevelt had a very difficult time with Churchill before the election of 1940. It will be recalled that Roosevelt was supposed to keep this country out of war then, but Churchill wrote him on June 15, 1940, that Europe was moving downward so fast that it was passing "... beyond the control of American public opinion." And, of course, he made the point that if he, Churchill fell, another British cabinet might give the British fleet to Hitler. He apparently did not think much of his countrymen.

The sum total of this agitation was the destroyer deal. On June 10, 1940, Senator Sheppard introduced a bill authorizing the War Department to exchange unseaworthy or surplus materials for other of which there was a scarcity. Senator David L. Walsh countered by a bill forbidding the limitation or reduction in the size of our Navy. The act of June 28, 1940, embodied the ideas of Senator Walsh. Churchill continued his active but secret pressure on Roosevelt, always with the slogan that the British fleet might fall to Hitler. Finally a Cabinet meeting was called at the White House on August 2. On this I wish to quote "Back Door to War," by Charles Callan Tansill:

"There was no doubt in Churchill's mind that any transfer of American destroyers to Britain would be a 'decidedly unneutral act by the United States.' It would justify a declaration of war by Hitler. Such action would be eminently agreeable to Churchill who would ardently welcome American help in the struggle against the dictators. But the situation had to be handled carefully. When Lord Lothian (August 6) cabled that the President was exceedingly anxious for a pledge that the British fleet would not be turned over to the Germans in the event that Britain fell, Churchill refused to give one. 'The British nation would not tolerate any discussion of what we should do if our island were overrun.' It would be best to couple the transfer of destroyers with the lease of naval and air bases in Newfoundland and on some British islands in the Caribbean."

The deal for bases and destroyers finally went through. Of this Professor Edwin Borchard of Yale said:

"To the writer there is no possibility of reconciling the destroyer deal with neutrality, with the United States statutes, or with international law."

Churchill is a wonderful operator when it comes to advocating his country's interest.

In New York City a restaurateur by the name of James H. Moore has passed away at 83.

He was better known as Dinty Moore, the inspiration for George McManus' famous cartoon character, and the hamburgers he served were simply out of this world.

There is no particular significance to Moore's passing. He was a fine Irishman, ran one of the neatest and cleanest restaurants in New York City, and altogether was quite an exemplary citizen.

But there are thousands, yea perhaps millions, whose life story would be just as interesting.

To me, however, Dinty Moore meant much more than just the name of a restaurant keeper. It just so happens that my wife and I ate our first meal together in Dinty Moore's.

That was long before we were married, of course, and it was also the place where we had our first fight.

If I remember correctly, the argument was over the merit of onions on hamburgers. I was definitely a pro-onion man, while my future wife was just as definitely an anti-onion woman.

It was not until much later that I found out that raw onions violently disagreed with her — something which she, as an unmarried lady who had not yet caught her man (at least that is what she thought) would naturally not tell him.

It is very strange that after

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Charles Poore tells a story to emphasize the stern justice and efficiency of a certain admiral in the British navy early in the nineteenth century. One sailor on a man-of-war was charged particularly with the task of keeping a certain cannon army secure on deck, lest it tear loose from its moorings during a storm. There came a day when he did not do his job thoroughly. The ship rode into a heavy gale, and cannon came loose and began careening wildly about the slippery deck. Two men were knocked overboard by it. Further casualties were avoided when the negligent seaman himself courageously crawled out on the deck and secured the heavy gun to its moorings.

When the man-of-war reached port, the admiral said to that the sailor received his just reward: First, he received a high decoration for conspicuous bravery. Then he was hung for his negligence.

County Considers Setting Up Complete Land Record System

Plan Would Be Part Of Tax Program

Proposals to set up a complete land record system of the county for tax purposes was studied by commissioners yesterday.

The proposals were in line with legislation which aims at equalization of assessments in the State.

The legislation calls for a permanent record system as part of the equalizing program. This would include maps, index files, and card files of property or home owners.

Only thing not included for tax purposes would be records for personal property and for the per capita tax.

The legislation allowed five years in which to set up the permanent record system. One year is already gone.

The proposals under study now are in rough form. They emerged in a verbal conference between Commissioners Amzi F. Altenose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer; George C. Ensen of the Cole-Layer-Trumble Co., Dayton, Ohio; and David A. Warnick of Michael Baker Jr. Inc., Rochester, Pa.

Michael Baker Jr. Inc. is a firm of consulting engineers, planners, and surveyors which operates on a world-wide basis. Its end of the job would be to supply the record system.

The other firm is an appraisal and revaluation company, which would make the appraisals of all buildings on every single piece of property within the county limits.

The two firms are independent, but are joining forces to do the kind of appraising and mapping work which will conform to requirements of the new assessment laws.

One county has already signed such a contract: Milford. Work in Milford County has started. The two representatives told commissioners that commissioners in other counties were "pretty close" to signing similar contracts. Among them: Lehigh, Northampton, and Wayne.

Northampton commissioners felt they could "get their money out of the set-up" within 10 years, Warnick said.

The two firms, as professional firms, are in what Warnick described as a "privileged classification." They do not have to contract on a competitive bidding basis. If commissioners decided they wanted these firms to work for the county, they would not have to advertise for bids.

Commissioners were told that a flat price would be stated in writing by headquarters of both firms after preliminary study of the county was complete. Price would depend partly on what records were already available.

For comparison, Milford County has a population of 43,000, to Monroe's 33,000, and square mileage of 431, to Monroe's 611.

A rough estimate of the cost—which might later be revised up or down—was $60,000 to $70,000 for the mapping; and $60,000 for the appraisal.

This is about equal to appraising a property for less than $4, Ensen pointed out.

He exhibited the type of card which the appraisers use, and which becomes part of the permanent record kept by the county; it contains dozens of questions relating to construction, materials used, size, improvements, dimensions of rooms, number of rooms. It's a tape-measure job for the appraiser, Ensen said.

The appraisers classify dwellings in five different grades, set up a complete card and data system. To establish land and house they apply tested "yardsticks", analyze local sales, interview businessmen, bankers, real estate dealers, others who know land values, according to Ensen.

Part of the deal is the training of local men to make the classifications when the county takes the completed system over.

The engineering firm would supply:

Maps showing every property in the county; each bearing a permanent code number; a property owner's index listing all properties shown, and all cross-referenced; maps of the county; tax district maps on a scale of an inch to 500 feet; and larger scale maps for borough areas in a ratio of one inch to 50 feet.

The code number would indicate the map, the card, the tax district, localized section, and position of the property, so that it could be quickly located.

The maps are in the form of cloth tracings, in a file, plus two sets of prints, bound, which would be for general use and could be easily replaced.

To do its share of the work, the engineering firm would go into the recorder's office, microfilm deeds, consult local engineers and surveyors, check existing records, maps and data, and would fly surveys and make aerial maps. All microfilm negatives of deeds, records, photostats and similar material would be turned over to the county as part of the file.

In answer to commissioners' questions, it was estimated an additional $5,000 or $6,000 might have to be spent for office equipment

Boy, 13, Steals Limelight At Opening Of Farm Show

Harrisburg, (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, competing with seasoned adult veterans, stole the spotlight yesterday as first grand champions were crowned at the opening of the 1953 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Keith Shaffner, Oak Hall Station, Centre County, led his southdown wether to the title in the fat sheep division. The animal previously won the southdown green championship.

An estimated opening-day crowd of 130,000 from all parts of the state milled up and down the aisles of the 13-acre Farm Show Building. Sunny skies cleared the way for the large, bantering throng which equalled last year's all-time for the opening-day attendance record.

At official opening ceremonies last night in the show arena Gov. John S. Fine declared, "This is a great time—on with the show!"

Speaking to 10,000 persons, the governor praised the 1953 show as a "tribute to Pennsylvania's agriculture and an inspiration to our consumers."

Although numerous prizes and honors were bestowed upon participants in the show, it was the spectacle of the big annual free agricultural extravaganza that caught the eye of the average visitor.

There was a record number of 1,950 livestock to see the 300 exhibits of bright, shiny new farm equipment and household appliances of every type. The thousands of spectators viewed them all—and they'll have until Friday to see more of them.

for setting up the record system, supplying files.

Mapping would take 12 to 16 months for Monroe County, Warnick said. The appraisal firm would start work about four months before the engineers were finished, and would need about 18 months to do this job. The total length of time would then be from 26 to 30 months.

Next step, commissioners agreed, was to get a proposal in writing, including definite costs. Then the board would get in touch with Milford County commissioners, and also with Bradford County commissioners, who set up a record system by using local men.

Stroudsborg Woman's Club Celebrates 39th Birthday With Club Chorus, Panel

The Stroudsborg Woman's Club celebrated its 39th birthday yesterday with a member-participation program at the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. Parke Kunkle, program chairman, in her introduction read the list of charter members of the organization, who responded to a newspaper announcement of plans to organize a civic club on January 14, 1914.

The program included a chorus of club members, directed by Mrs. William Levering, who sang two Waring arrangements, "Where in the World but in America" and "Winter Wonderland," with Mrs. Floyd Bachman as accompanist.

The chorus included Mrs. Harry Kresge, Mrs. A. Byrd McDowell, Mrs. B. K. Williams, Mrs. Walter Schluh, Mrs. Parke Kunkle, Mrs. Edward C. Hess, Mrs. E. C. Hughes, Miss Bess Gardner, Mrs. Elwood Hintze and two members of the Junior Woman's Club, Mrs. Russell Imbt and Mrs. John Sibley.

A panel with Mrs. Kunkle as moderator, discussed, "Learning, Living and Working Together" from three different viewpoints.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, county librarian, spoke on behalf of libraries as an aid to learning. Pointing out that the present library was the outgrowth of the original library established by the Woman's Club as one of their first projects, Mrs. Kane briefly traced the history of libraries from Egyptian times.

The first library in America was established in 1637 in Annapolis, she said, although it was 1817 until the first tax-supported library was established. Early librarians, usually retired professors, each used their own system of classifying books, with general confusion.

She paid tribute to Melvin Dewey, whose Dewey Decimal system of classifications, established at Amherst in 1878, still is the foundation of modern library science.

The role of the modern librarian, not only in the care of books, but also as a reliable source of information, and as one who gives opportunity and encouragement to those who seek further education, is an important one, she said.

"The legend on the local Bookmobile, 'Knowledge on Wheels,' presents a true picture of the librarian's function," she said. "We can measure the number of books lent out, the cost of each exchange, the number of readers, but we cannot measure the difference these books may have made in individual lives."

Mrs. Horace Westbrook, social editor of The Daily Record, spoke of the role of the newspaper woman and the opportunities they had not only to come close to the inner workings of the community and individuals, but their creative role in interpreting to the community. She also paid tribute to the work of the women's clubs of this community and of the individual members.

Mrs. Eugene Martin, past president of the Woman's Club, also spoke of women's work in the world, with Oveta Kulp Hobby, now chairman of the Federal Social Security Administration, with cabinet status in fact if not in name. Her early interest in world affairs, when at 20 she was parliamentarian of the Texas House of Representatives; her willingness to accept big responsibilities such as head of the WAVES during the war, and her ability to fill those responsibilities, were brought out by Mrs. Martin.

Women are increasingly gaining responsibility in many fields, she pointed out, and must do a better job than men in similar positions because their work is under greater scrutiny.

Mrs. Kunkle summed up the panel discussion and addressed questions to the various members.

Mrs. George T. Robinson, president of the club, opened the meeting with a report to the members of the work in progress including the Well-Baby Clinic Christmas party when Mrs. Walter Castfield, chairman of welfare, Mrs. James R. Gavin, Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. Alford J. Meyers were hostesses; of the distribution of the mittens for the Christmas "mittie tree;" and other club projects.

A display of baby pictures of members, a scrapbook of past administration and pictures from the club archives were shown at the meeting by Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. Millard Rice.

Mrs. Frank French and Mrs. Edward Worthington presided at the birthday tea table, featuring a decorated birthday cake for the club. Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. Carleton Long and Mrs. French were co-chairmen of the committee which also included Mrs. Gerald Shanley Sr., Mrs. Frank Staehle, Mrs. Walter Starnard, Mrs. Jere Stoffer, Mrs. William Towse, Mrs. Ray Saunders and Mrs. Eli Travis.

Before the meeting, the executive board met for a brief ceremony to present a gift of appreciation and farewell to Mrs. Frank H. French who is leaving for California, as a gift from the board members.

Mrs. Kinsell Rescues Baby From Blaze

Groping her way through smoke-filled hallways to rescue her year-old daughter, Mardee, from their burning home in Berkeley, California, Mrs. Lawrence Kinsell, daughter of Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, East Stroudsburg, is modestly disclaiming any heroism.

"It's what any mother would have done," she protested to reporters who made the story a page one feature in the Berkeley paper.

The fire broke out in the Kinsell's home while Dr. Kinsell and her two older daughters were away, and Mrs. Kinsell was alone upstairs with the baby. Sniffing smoke, she went downstairs to discover the entire kitchen aflame. Smoke and flames pursued her up the stairway as she ran up again for the baby and carried her safely through the choking hallway.

She called the fire department and remained at the home of a neighbor until the fire was finally subdued after about $11,000 damage to the Kinsell's $35,000 home.

The Kinsells formerly lived on Brown St., East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Kinsell has written to assure her mother that neither she nor little Mardee suffered any ill effects from their experience.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Carol Hart, of Greentown, was attired in a blue ballerina gown of iridescent taffeta, a matching neopiece and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and blue pom-poms.

James Beischer, Sterling, was the best man. Ushers were Edwin Frey, South Sterling, and Robert Madden, Gouldsboro.

The bride's mother wore a checked dress trimmed in black velvet and a corsage of white mums. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a plum-colored dress and a corsage similar to Mrs. Skelton's.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Virginia. For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The couple are graduates of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High school, class of 1952. The bride was honored last May by being chosen queen of the annual May Day festivities at the school. The bridegroom, employed by his father as a motion picture projectionist, is scheduled to be accepted into the armed forces in a few weeks.

The couple will make their home temporarily with Mr. Geiges' parents at High Acres.

Like moose, elk are not fitted to thrive in the presence of civilization, except in remote regions under special legal protection.

I sometimes think that the most favored people in the world are those born with patience and perception—the patience to sit quietly through any emotional upheavals that come their way, and the perception to find beauty all around them no matter what their lot may be.

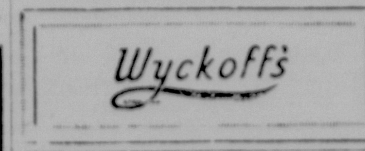

After viewing the Camera Club exhibit yesterday on our second floor, I am more convinced than ever that all of us are wasting much that is good and that could give us satisfaction and happiness, simply because our eyes and hearts are not in tune with the world around us. Most of us can see a deisel idling at the station, and never consider the potentials of its harnessed power, until someone with sensitive understanding captures the full story in a black and white photograph or on canvas. We can watch the weaver at work, and never see the complete artistry in his hands until a camera pictures the nimble fingers among the network of threads. We can smile upon the aged drowsing in the sun, and never even sense the story written in the lines of the brow and around the eyes.

Beauty is not something for just a few. It isn't the birthright of the wealthy, or the exclusive property of any particular class of people. It can be found with much the same impact and sincerity in the soap bubbles on a tub of wash water, as in a painting by Rembrandt or a silver Cellini goblet. The sad truth is, however, that many of us cannot find beauty for ourselves. It's only when something impressive catches at our imagination from a picture of nothing more than a wash bowl with a soap dish above it, that we stop to ponder just what beauty is, and where it lurks in our own daily surroundings.

Since viewing our Camera Club show, I find myself looking with renewed interest at such ordinary utility items as the stapling machine and the row of books on my desk. And I'm wondering what a photographer might make of the dappled sunlight falling on certain typewriter keys through the slats of the venetian blind. There is beauty in these things, I'm sure . . . just as surely as there will be satisfaction in the heap of papers on my desk, once I've cleared away the work they represent.

THINGS OF BEAUTY
While we're mentioning things of beauty, I might point out that the newly arrived shipment of blouses now on display in Sports-wear will do much to brighten a mid-winter wardrobe inexpensively. Some, in bright red and green calico with sprigs of flowers, have round collars, long sleeves, and price tags that defy $5.95. Others, equally adorable, are in solid colors . . . navy, peacock, white and gray . . . and have tiny collars with pointed yoke, gathered back, push-up sleeves and price tags reading only $3.98.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," the poet tells us. And these blouses fill the bill perfectly. They'll wash in a twinkling and always have a fresh viewpoint to ward your wardrobe.

Retiring President Ostrom Issues Summary Report Of C. Of C.'s 1952 Activities

A comprehensive report of 1952's activities of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce was submitted to the annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel by Merle C. Ostrom, retiring president.

In his statement Ostrom recalled the early year resignation of Bill Nixon as executive secretary and election of Jacob C. Wachtman. Later in the year, Ostrom's report noted, the offices of the Chamber and Vacation Bureau were shifted from Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. building to 723 Main St., Stroudsburg.

"Over the years the Chamber of Commerce has a distinct record of accomplishment," Ostrom said. "These years, the records show, have had their ups and downs, the same as any private enterprise is bound to have. But the lean years have, as a rule, been the stimulus to greater accomplishment in the years which have followed, and I feel that 1953 is going to be no exception to this rule."

Ostrom continued, "It isn't every year that we can report a new Trumatic Machine and Tool Co. trying its wings in our area. Sometimes we must be content with a record of conservation, of preserving what we have and making sure the climate and the soil are conditioned to a healthy growth of the industrial family that has called the Pocono Mountains area home these many years."

He cited the recent meeting of Chamber industrial committee members and labor union officials to solve a labor relations problem. He also noted the potential location here of a shoe factory, through a communication of the Chamber and the response of 88 persons who wished employment in such an industry.

Ostrom also praised LeRoy Dengler for his efforts in keeping the Mount Pocono Airport project alive and commented on Dengler's work on the Memorial Parkway, adding "there is reason to feel optimistic about realization of this dream some day when we can enlist the sympathetic interest of a governor of the Commonwealth."

He also lauded the work of the legislative and national affairs committee headed by Dr. Joseph Noonan; the work of J. L. Cohen as financial chairman; G. P. O'Neill's efforts on highway matters; and other committees and their chairmen for cooperation.

In conclusion Ostrom asked for moral support for the group and said, "Whenever the opportunity offers, I would admonish you to speak with all the fervor at your command for the adequacy of the Chamber of Commerce and its need in the community. Only in this way, will Chamber's identity and potency as a community builder be sustained."

By 1954, California expects to import enough natural gas from Texas to produce power equal to that produced by 28 waterpower projects the size of Hoover Dam.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Several local fans were in the stands on Saturday, as LaSalle hung a 97-77 lacing on Muhlenberg, before a capacity crowd in Allentown's Rockne Hall. Although the Explorers used their big gun, Tom Gola, only in the third quarter, it was obvious from midway in the first period just which way the chips were destined to fall. However, LaSalle did use the rest of its stars almost all the way and the paying customers found out why the Philadelphiaans are ranked among the first 10 by the Associated Press.

Jack Moore, the Negro rebounding artist, put on a great show and when the lanky LaSalle center fouled out of the game in the fourth quarter, he received a large ovation from the crowd, LaSalle and Muhlenberg supporters alike. Moore proved to one and all that the defensive job he did on Wally Dukes, Seton Hall ace, in last year's National Invitation Tournament was no fluke. Gola reportedly suffered a minor injury in a previous game and that was the reason he was used so sparingly by Ken Loeffler, the LaSalle mentor, who will return to the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association clinic for the second straight year, when it opens next June at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Ten Henning, well known in local bowling circles, may have to take time off from his favorite sport because of an arm injury. Harold White, who was supposedly finished with scholastic athletics for the year when he suffered a broken wrist in football, was in the East Stroudsburg High varsity lineup against Coplay on Friday, after playing as a member of the Eastburg junior varsity against Wilson Borough the previous Tuesday. Wade Keene, who transferred from Greene-Dreher-Sterling to Waymart High this season, opposed his old mates in Friday's varsity contest, a Wayne County Conference battle.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg each were awarded two shares in the recent Lehigh Valley League Invitation Basketball Tournament, or $181.98 each. Total receipts for the tournament, held at Statington's Smith Hall, were $2,509.75. Expenses amounted to $664.90. Alden "Red" Fetherman, former three-letter athlete at Stroudsburg High, is wearing number 17 as a member of the Muhlenberg junior varsity. Fetherman scored nine points against the LaSalle freshmen on Saturday, as LaSalle won a close 66-66 decision.

Frank O'Malley, one of the brightest basketball stars to ever come out of the Carbondale area, tallied 17 points for the LaSalle freshmen. O'Malley is a graduate of St. Rose High. Sam Cooperman, well known official in Monroe and Northampton counties, was an interested spectator at the LaSalle-Muhlenberg clash. ESSTC will have Ray Steele, head scoring center, for only one more game unless the postponed contest with Panzer is rescheduled before the end of the first semester.

In case there's any doubt in anybody's mind that West Chester has gone big time in sports, just take a look at the final score of a wrestling match pitting West Chester Teachers against Penn last Saturday. The final count was West Chester, 27; Penn, two. The same big time air is being taken on by Millersville, as the basketball club that defeated ESSTC by four points in the latter's opening game, has already played such national powers as LaSalle, St. Joseph's and Villanova and lost all three. According to the current trend, it won't be long before the Pennsylvania Teachers College Conference will be all out of proportion.

Athletes give way to examinations at ESSTC this week, as the semester exams begin today. The basketball team will have to move chairs on and off the gym floor if it hopes to practice. Second semester studies begin next Wednesday and the cage machine plays at Trenton the following Saturday. Frank Turner, youthful East Stroudsburg High basketball player, has a very unusual foul shot. It's not the manner in which the Eastburg eager delivers the ball, but rather the angle from which the shot is started—and he's a good shot, too.

Gera Holzman, basketball official from Palmerton, isn't working his favorite sport this season on the advice of his doctor. The whistle-tooter has been under a doctor's care for the past three months. Holzman worked many games in both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg in the past several years. The second-half Lehigh Valley League meeting of Palmerton and Lehighton will be held at Statington's Smith Hall. This means the two arch rivals will have met on this one court three times this season. Palmerton won the first two clashes.

Not counting Saturday's tussle against Stroudsburg, Lehighton's Benny Roth and Joel Samuelson are averaging 30.7 and 23.1 points a game, respectively.

Stroudsburg, Eastburg Set To Invade Foreign Courts

Catasauqua, Phillipsburg In Host Roles

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High schools return to the basketball wars today, but both are scheduled to go through their paces on foreign hardwood. The Mountaineers of Stroudsburg tangle with Catasauqua at the Moravian College field house, in Bethlehem, while East Stroudsburg's Cavaliers battle Phillipsburg High, on the latter's court.

The Mountaineers and Rough Riders feature a preliminary tussle at 7:15 p.m. and a varsity contest approximately one hour later. East Stroudsburg and Phillipsburg will put their junior varsity event on stage at 6:45 p.m., while the main event gets underway at 8 p.m.

Stroudsburg will be searching for its first Lehigh Valley League victory, following its brilliant, despite a 76-73 loss, showing against Lehighton on Saturday. The Mountaineers have lost two circuit outings and own a season mark of one victory and seven setbacks.

Captain Sam Russell announced last night that Bill Hickey's injured ankle is alright, but didn't know the condition of Bill Bailey's damaged ankle, because the latter failed to put in an appearance at yesterday's practice.

Same Crew
Russell also stated that he would stick with the same lineup that opened against Lehighton, with a pressing defense and fast break being the setup for the day. This means that Bill Hickey and Byron "Chick" Miller will be at the forward spots, while Captain Al Adelman handles the center chores. Don Garaventi and Karl Wein-gartner will handle the guard positions.

East Stroudsburg, under the direction of Coach Dick Forster will present its usual lineup against Phillipsburg, with hopes of avenging a 55-47 defeat at the hands of this same Phillipsburg crew in the opening game of the season, on the East Stroudsburg court.

The Cavaliers have yet to win a game in seven outings this season, five of which were Lehigh-Northampton League contests. East Stroudsburg's opening lineup will feature Captain Joe Chase and Don Herman at the forward posts, while Bill Pensyl operates at center and Bill Summers and Bob "Red" Kupiszewski handle the guard duties.

Wyatt Agrees To Tough Task

Little Rock, Ark. (AP) — Hard-driving young Bowden Wyatt, who's accustomed to winning yesterday conditionally agreed to the task of hauling University of Arkansas football out of the doldrums.

Five Years
The Arkansas board of trustees, meeting with Wyatt here, offered him a five-year contract of $12,000 a year to succeed the resigned Otis Douglas. He said he would accept if he could break a nine-year pact at the University of Wyoming. Wyatt was said to be getting $10,000 annually at Wyoming.

The 36-year-old, black-haired Wyatt, who jazzed up the single wing he learned as an end at Tennessee to win 39 games, lost 17 and tie one in six years at Wyoming's grid helm, left the impression that he expects to obtain a release in time to take over the Arkansas job at Fayetteville January 20.

After the tournament, the survivor is to meet the "European" champ, determined by a bout between Randy Turpin of England and Charles Humez of France.

Names
The 10 middleweights in the "American" tournament are: Carl "Boh" Olson of Honolulu, Norman Hayes of Boston, Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., Paddy Young of New York, "Rocky"

Forster In Midst Of Active Coaching Career

By Jim Riley

A. Richard Forster, known as Dick in everyday life, is the head basketball and assistant football mentor at East Stroudsburg High and has crammed so much coaching into his short career that it would make the average person's head spin, much the same as at a m. on New Year's Day.

Dick, now in his second year at the helm of the East Stroudsburg cage aggregation, is a native of Newark and it is in this New Jersey city that Forster got off to such a flying start as a coach.

The East Stroudsburg mentor graduated from Newark's Central High in 1941 and then entered Panzer College, where he was graduated in 1948, after a fling with Uncle Sam's Air Corps during World War II.

Dick was a member of the city championship grid machine at Central High, in 1937, when he enjoyed a regular backfield berth as a freshman. The smiling Eastburg mentor played guard in basketball and the outfield in baseball while in high school.

In college Forster played both football and baseball, where he enjoyed his top thrill in sports, scoring three touchdowns against Up-sala in the second half, to give Panzer a 27-20 victory over its arch foe. Forster scored on runs of 35 and 15 yards and a plunge of two yards.

Editors Note: Today's feature on Dick Forster is only one covering all the coaches of Monroe County, both scholastic and collegiate. The series is spaced so as to cover the entire school year, according to season.

While in the air corps Dick divided his time as an instructor in the States and as a gunner in the European theater, where he flew 52 missions as a staff-sergeant, winning a presidential citation, the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

After returning from service and graduating from Panzer in 1948, Dick proceeded to cram more coaching into three years than most coaches do into a lifetime.

The five-foot, eight inch, 185 pounder, was supervisor of recreation of Hillside Township a suburb of Newark, coached and taught three years in the Newark public school system, coached baseball and basketball for three years at St. Michael's High and served as backfield coach at Panzer College, in 1949 and 1950, not to mention teaching athletic field work at the same college. While teaching in the Newark system, he also coached football and baseball, some of this work being done before he graduated from college.

Dick didn't teach at St. Michael's, but did have outstanding success as a coach. One year St. Michael's went to the final round of the state Catholic Basketball Tournament, before bowing by five points, after the score was tied with one minute remaining on the clock. Another season found the St. Michael's baseball team winning 16 of 18 games.

Forster had a slight local contact before moving here in September of 1951, as he was head backfield coach for Panzer when the New Jersey school dropped a 19-7 decision to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College under the lights at Gordon Giffels field. This was the same season that Bangor's Dick Pritchard was playing with ESSTC as a freshman.

Family
Dick, who is married and the father of a little girl, Patricia, is a resident of 60 Warren St., East Stroudsburg, and teaches physical education in both the senior and junior high schools.

Mrs. Forster is the former Miss Lee Bajak, of Irvington, N. J. Patricia will be two years old in March.

The East Stroudsburg coach is currently studying for his Master's degree at Rutgers, but plans to transfer to Lehigh next summer.

Forster is a hard driving, clear thinking coach who is currently engrossed in building the East Stroudsburg basketball team back to a winning organization and is now at the helm of a cage machine that features nothing but sophomores and juniors.

Dick is in the middle of a tough task, and when the job of rebuilding is complete, Forster will deserve a lot of credit from followers of the East Stroudsburg cage machine.

Forster's hard work carries over to football, where he has been of unestimable assistance to head mentor Jack Kist.

The guy works hard and with the best interest of all concerned at heart.

Winke-Barre Back In Eastern League After Absence Of Year

Winke-Barre, (AP) — The city of Winke-Barre last night was readmitted as a member of the Eastern League, with ownership of the club put on a community-wide co-operative basis.

League President Thomas H. Richardson turned over the franchise to Harry Rudolph, president of the Greater Wyoming Valley Sports Booster Association, who was acting on behalf of more than 200 organizations which are back of the drive.

The return of the franchise marks the end of an absence from the league of one year. The Winke-Barre franchise was moved to Reading and the franchise turned over last night to the city was the one formerly operated by the Boston Braves in Hartford, Conn.

Certain
Earlier in the day President Richardson said that the operation of a franchise in Scranton was "certain" after he attended a luncheon attended by members of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations. Richardson said the group pledged their support of club owner Louis Baschew.

Richardson said both the Scranton and Winke-Barre franchises had been promised players by major league ball clubs including the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Philadelphia Phillies, the Cincinnati Reds, the New York Giants, the St. Louis Browns and the Detroit Tigers.

Far Ahead
With 165 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters taking part, the Yankees of Casey Stengel received 65 first place votes, and piled up 309 points on a 3-2-1 basis. Coach Biggie Munn's Michigan State powerhouse, winner of nine games, received 45 first place votes, and 279 points. Michigan State had been voted in fifth place in last year's poll.

The Yanks and MSC were far ahead of the other teams, both professional and amateur, receiving consideration.

Baker Captures Split Decision

Brooklyn (AP) — Bob Baker of Pittsburgh won a split 10-round decision from Bill Gilliam of Orange, N. J., in the feature 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena last night in the fifth meeting between the pair.

The fight was so close that Baker gained the nod by a one-point margin on the card of one of the judges.

Scoring
Referee Teddy Martin called it 6-4 for Gilliam, Judge Jack O'Sullivan saw it 5-3-2 for Baker and Judge America Schiavone's card showed the pair even in rounds, 5-3. But in points, he gave the decision to Baker, 6-5.

This was Baker's fourth victory in the series.

Basilio Nips Williams

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP) — Carmen Basilio, 147, Canastota, N. Y., scored a unanimous decision over former Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, 148, Trenton, N. J., in the main event at the Onondaga War Memorial last night.

Those in attendance were also informed that the league would hold its regular January meeting next Monday, January 19, at Tannersville Inn, due to the fact that the Bartonsville Hotel is closed for the remainder of the month.

Sherman Wins On Reese's Field Goal

Ed Reese drove home a field goal in the fading seconds of the second overtime period to give the Sherman Theater a 44-43 victory over the Pocono Sabers, in a Senior Y League game played on the Monroe County YMCA court last night.

The outcome of the contest was in doubt right up to the final whistle, as never more than a few points separated the two foes.

Close
Pocono Sabers led 8-4 at the end of the first eight minutes, but the Sherman club fought back with an 11-7 edge in the second stanza to tie the contest at halftime, 15-15.

The Sherman club moved out in front at the three-quarter mark, 33-32, with an 18-17 margin in the third round, only to have the Sabers tie the score at the end of regulation play, 39-39, with a 7-6 edge in the final period.

Both clubs picked up two points in the first overtime, but Reese's field goal, with his team trailing by one tally, decided the issue in the second overtime session.

Kramer, Segura Win Pro Matches

Princeton, N. J. (AP) — Jack Kramer nipped Frank Sedgman's comeback in the bud with a 6-2, 6-1 trouncing in just 33 minutes before a crowd of 3,300 last night.

Sweeping 10 out of the last 11 games, the king of the pros completely vanquished the former Australian Davis Cup ace who only Sunday night had come back to score a three set victory in their pro tennis exhibitions in New York.

Fifth Straight
Like Pancho Segura, who handed Ken McGregor his fifth defeat in as many meetings, 6-3, 6-4, Kramer broke his opponent's service four times, once at love.

Two Games Scheduled
Two games are on tap for the Industrial League at the Monroe County YMCA today. Worthington Mower and Frank's Barbers clash at 7:15 p.m., while the East Stroudsburg Diner and Frailey's Insurance tangle at 8:30 p.m.

Dodgers Sign Three Big Guns

New York, (AP) — In one fell swoop, the Brooklyn Dodgers signed "one half of their ball club" yesterday when Jackie Robinson, "Pee Wee" Reese and Roy Campanella affixed their signatures to contracts totaling just under $100,000.

The triple signing of three of their big guns boosted to an even dozen the number of Dodgers in the fold for 1953 as the National League champions endeavored to get their house in order in record time. Other regulars already "satisfied and contented" include pitchers Joe Black and "Proctor" Roe, first baseman Gil Hodges and outfielder George Shuba.

No Figures
Dodger vice president E. J. "Euzie" Bavasi did not divulge the individual figures.

He did say that all three received slight increases, that Robinson was the highest salaried player on the club and that the total salary of the trio was "not quite $100,000."

Barbers Open Campaign With Victory Over Phillipsburg

Wilson Borough—Frank's Barbers, representing East Stroudsburg, stormed to a 75-53 victory in the opening round of the Blue Mountain League last night, with the Phillipsburg Knights being the victims of the setback. The contest was played as the first part of a doubleheader here at Liberty Junior High.

Dick Pennington, Ray Steele and Dick Merring led Frank's attack, as the visiting contingent put the "clippers" on the Knights early and remained in front through the entire game, using the second quarter as the margin of victory.

Big Blow
The visiting five led 8-6 at the end of the first period and 34-14 at the halfway mark, after dominating the second round, 26-8.

Frank's club insured itself of victory by holding a 21-19 edge in the third round and then battling Phillipsburg to a 20-20 standoff in the final eight minutes of action.

The East Stroudsburg team made 11 of 19 foul shots, while Phillipsburg came through on seven of 13 charity tosses.

Monroe County League To Hold First Round Of Play With Three Games On Court Agenda

Providing the weatherman decides to cooperate, the Monroe County League will hold a delayed opening of its 1953 basketball campaign today, with three contests on the agenda.

The time element will be the same on all three fronts, with the junior varsity encounter scheduled to get underway at 7:15 p.m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

Tobyhanna Township, searching for its fourth straight league title, will invade the home domain of Coolbaugh High, an arch-rival. THHS and Coolbaugh are considered by many to be two of the top clubs in the circuit this season.

Poli, another club expected to be in the thick of the pennant fight, will be on its home boards tonight against a Pocono High quintet that has been improving with each game this season.

Barrett, still another of the highly regarded aggregations this year, will be at home with Chestnuthill. It will be the first league tussle for Barrett's coach, Joe Murray, as the colorful mentor spent last season in the Marines, having been recalled to active duty from the reserves.

All regularly scheduled Monroe County League contests will be played on Tuesday and Friday.

Bangor Invades Wilson High Court Today

Bangor — Bangor High, "frozen" out of last Friday's scheduled Lehigh-Northampton League contest with Pen Argyl, returns to the circuit wars today by invading the home domain of a highly regarded Wilson Bosough contingent.

The junior varsity encounter is scheduled for 6:45 p.m., while the varsity contest will begin approximately at 8 p.m.

Despite the icy condition of the roads, steady traffic has been maintained on Route 12 through here during the past few days. Heavy coatings of ice on the trees which are becoming increasingly laden as the rain and sleet continue, are causing much damage to trees in the vicinity, and to nearby buildings where falling limbs happen to strike. Telephone service on some lines was out all day Friday, Jan. 9, and electric service was interrupted from five to fifteen minutes several times Friday.

The July Jane club is scheduled to meet at the home of Miss Emma Dunbar Tuesday, January 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Drifts of snow, swirling like ocean waves through a barbed wire fence, twisting fenceposts into a semblance of driftwood, yesterday won a first prize for Harry Leida, of East Stroudsburg, in the photographic exhibit of the Pococoon Garden Club, now in progress on the second floor of Wyckoff's. Leida also was given an honorable mention for his study of Crystal Street in the evening, when cars form a line of silent sentinels on one side of the thoroughfare, under a row of glittering streetlights.

Mr. Leida, an employee of the Line Material Company, is one of the best known amateur photographers in this locality, holding a series of wins in nation-wide photographic competitions. Some months ago he was awarded third honorable mention in a competition sponsored by Life magazine, and more recently he received a $100 war bond given as sixth prize by Photography magazine for his portrait of the former Elin Coleman.

More than 100 entries in black and white have been hung in this year's show and a number of pictures in color are to be added later in the week. At that time also a series of slides in color will be shown by projector, these featuring the work of local camera enthusiasts while on European tours and scenic trips throughout this country.

Keynote of the impressive display is the originality shown in almost all of the pictures, and the variety of fields into which the artists have taken their magic lenses. There are industrial pictures made in local plants; studies of individuals or groups of persons engaged in sports or summer pastimes; and the usual snaps of pretty girls and adorable bright-eyed youngsters. But the pictures, are, in all cases, more than mere pictures. They are stories in black and white, with an undercurrent that tugs at the heartstrings, either dramatically, or with humor or pathos.

Many of the photographers have attained unusual effects with natural light. Others have utilized various methods to achieve a theatrical, highly original contrast of light and dark as a better means of telling their stories. One of the most unusual entries is a study of a woman, with a lighted cigarette in her hand. Thrown into semi-darkness, the face has become a mask, shadowy and elusive. The hand in the foreground is dead white, with its network of lines and shiny nails heightening the ghostly effect. The picture itself is divided by a barely distinguishable column of smoke, rising from the ash.

One of the most interesting groups of pictures is a series of European studies by Martin Bryer.

It was also a travel picture, that won the second prize for Jesse Weiss, WPO engineer and ardent camera enthusiast, with a record of many previous awards. Jesse had entered a study of the Chateau Frontenac, made at night during a visit to Canada. A fairytale quality impresses the observer, springing from the fact that the light from the windows is just sufficient to silhouette the fantastic turrets and towers of the hotel against the softly clouded evening sky.

Third prize was awarded Irving Sommer for his picture, "Snow Stop" an effective study of a diesel engine, stopped during a snowstorm at the station in East Stroudsburg. In this instance, the camera has found and recorded the vast beauty that frequently goes unnoticed in simple, everyday incidents. The lights from the engine pick up the threads of snow beating down upon the glass, and steam forms clouds in the brisk air as the huge engine waits impatiently at the depot. It is a picture that suggests unlimited power, closely harnessed and chafing to be unleashed, and it unleashes too the imagination of the beholder.

In addition to the Leida award for Crystal Street, honorable mention was given Olive Paul for her study of "Dawn", a collier, and Guy Dean for his character study of Pop Ratan. This photograph marks the impressive transfer from reality to film of an aged man in working clothes, who finds immeasurable satisfaction in the luxury of his pipe.

Other entrants in the show are Warren Pennington, Russel Kun-

Carriers Have Until Feb. 15 To Pay Taxes

Persons who operate vehicles for hire in Pennsylvania have until the middle of February to pay their gross receipts taxes for 1952. State Secretary of Revenue Otto F. Messner pointed out that this deadline represented an extension of 15 days beyond the normal due date—Feb. 1, 1953. The penalty and interest charges, in cases of failure to pay by the new time limit, he said, will be imposed as of Feb. 15.

The secretary also reminded such operators that the original gross receipts tax law, in effect for more than 21 years, had been altered by legislation passed in 1951.

"The old rate of assessment on the previous year's earnings still is eight mills on the dollar," he explained. "But the tax picture was changed by eliminating two kinds of deductions.

"Registration fees paid for license tags during the year no longer can be deducted from the taxes being paid on a carrier's gross receipts. In addition, excise taxes paid to municipalities in the state for using their highways over the 12-month period cannot be taken as a deduction."

The necessary tax forms, Messner said, will be mailed today.

Dealers Launch Preliminary Plans For Big Auto Show

The Monroe County Automobile Dealers Association held a dinner meeting last night at the Indian Queen to begin setting up plans and schedules for the 1953 Auto Show, to be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13 and 14 in the East Stroudsburg Armory building.

With President Parke Kunkle in charge, the members heard preliminary plans for the show, outlined by advertising specialists and demonstration authorities from the area.

A tentative budget for the two-day show was also discussed at the meeting.

James Scanlon, secretary of the association and Lester Abeloff, chairman of arrangements for the annual Auto Show, discussed tentative plans for the management of the show.

Under discussion also were potential methods to be used in calling the attention of the general public to the many outstanding features in new auto lines which will be presented during the show.

More and better telephone service in Pennsylvania

During 1953 we plan to install the tons of intricate equipment necessary to serve more than 136,000 additional telephones.

We plan to break ground for 33 completely new telephone buildings and to start major additions to 22 others throughout the State.

We've scheduled major equipment additions in more than 250 central offices. Major additions to toll lines, cable networks and the like will also number in the hundreds.

Any way you look at it, Pennsylvania keeps growing, growing, growing!

New communities develop. Business keeps expanding. Industrial and farm production keeps rising. And the pace of progress in 1953 looks more vigorous than ever!

All this means stepped-up requirements for telephone service . . . a constant challenge to the men and women of your Telephone Company. This year again, we'll do our level best to provide telephone service for the scores of new communities springing up throughout the State . . . just as we'll continue to expand telephone service in established communities, and to develop better and faster ways to handle the ever-increasing number of calls.

Today, in the areas we serve, there are almost three million telephones. More than a million and a quarter of these have been added during the busy years since the end of World War II. And in the same time, the number of calls handled in an average day has jumped from about 7,700,000 to more than 12,500,000.

The people of Pennsylvania need and want good, fast, dependable telephone service. We're determined to see that they continue to get it.
